FORD'S SAFETY SNAP HOOK.

The Only Absolutely Safe Snap Hook in Exist ence-The Invention of a Wichita Man. About a year ago Mr. George Mathews, one of Wichita's leading hardware dealers and an inventor of some note, remarked in the presence of Mr. E. P. Ford that there had never been invented a perfectly safe and reliable harness snap hook; that those in use at that Che time, without exception, were unreliable and dangerous. This remark set Mr. Ford to thinking, and he at once began serching for an idea that could be embodied in this most useful and necessary article in the make-up of a well 9

WICHITA'S NEW COURT BILL.

For Four Hundred and Fifty Thousand People In another column is printed the new federal court bill for Wichita, in full, as introduced by Judge Peters, our representative. Mr. Buchanan of New Jersey, from the committee on judiciary in making his report, which we also print, sets up a stronger case than was made by the EAGLE. He says, that with Leavenworth on the east line of the state and Topeka only fifty-seven miles away from it, that there is no quession that terms of both the district and circuit court should be held at Wichita, to which point he says there are tributary a population of four hundred and fifty thousand people. Mr. Buchanan is such an adept at telling the truth that if New Jersey should ever go back on him he will find an opening on the EAGLE. It has only been the narrowest kink of politics backed by the smallest kind of envy that has prevented two annual terms of court at Wichita in the past. It has been simply outrageous to pull all the litigants and their witnesses from this section of the state off. 200 and 300 miles only that the very politicians of the old pocket might be satisfied. But the bar of Southern Kansas had got enough of It and they arose as one man and demanded a court nearer home. Hon. Geo. L. Douglas, who was sent on to take the petitions of the Southern Kansas bar and to lay the matter before the Kansas delegation and who transmits us the bill and report which we print elsewhere in this ie, writes that he hopes the matter will be equally advanced in the senate soon. So does everybody else.

Yesterday evening a very pleasant sur-prise party was held at the home of Prof. J. C. South, 214 East Oak street, the occasion being his thirtieth birthday. The party consisted of members of the Young Peoples' Bible class of the First Baptist church, of which he is the esteemed assistaut teacher. Prof. South, on returning from evening meeting at the church, found his house filled with a company of about three score young people and their friends. His surprise, however, did not prevent his making every one feel at home and enjoy the social converse. Mrs. South, having been informed of the intention of the young people, had prepared for them without the knowledge of her husband and thus the surprise became the more complete The game of authors, historical test cards and many other familiar recreation oc-cupied the attention of the company until a late hour. Elegant refreshments were served and all wished the host and hostess many returning barthdays. None will soon forget the delightful evening spent at the cheerful home of their friend. Among those who were in attendance were the following: Misses Kate Wiggs, Grace V. Maxwell, Minnie M.
